PROGRAM PURPOSE

“Taking It to the Streets” allows community groups to directly address the needs of their neighborhood without having to wait for over burdened and limited City and County resources to respond. The mission of this program is to encourage community groups to take responsibility for their neighborhoods and affect change for themselves.

Rebuilding Together San Diego has a warehouse full of rakes, shovels, brooms, gloves, trash bags and other materials that we are willing to loan out to support community and youth organizations who want to invest some time to perform debris clean-up, graffiti paint outs, easement planting or street beautification projects to improve their immediate surroundings, or that of others.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO PARTICIPATE IN THE PROGRAM?

Any group of concerned citizens who wish to make a difference in their community is eligible to apply to participate in the Taking It to the Streets Program.

HOW IT WORKS:

There are two ways to participate in Taking It to the Streets:

OPTION 1

Organize a Community Clean Up or Graffiti Paint Out with a group (i.e.: club, church, neighbors). After you have selected a location, date, and determined the number of participants, submit the application to borrow tools and equipment from RTSD. In order to properly plan and accommodate all applicants, please submit your application for equipment 3-6 weeks in advance of your event. Upon receipt of your application, an RTSD staff member will contact you to discuss your exact equipment needs, pick up or delivery dates and return dates. Deposits are due upon check out of the tools by you and are held in our offices. Your same check will be returned to you upon check in of all borrowed equipment.

OPTION 2

RTSD can help you organize your Community Clean Up or Graffiti Paint Out for an administrative fee. RTSD staff will help you choose a suitable location, plan logistics, determine a scope of work, plan materials and equipment needs and coordinate equipment check out. For an additional fee, RTSD staff can man your event and provide registration and site organization services. Please contact RTSD for more information if you are interested in this service.
